Statement of Purpose

A national committee of distinguished scholars, educational leaders, community, civil rights and political activists have organized a national campaign to honor the legacy of civil rights leader Fannie Lou Hamer with a statue in the Fannie Lou Hamer Memorial Garden in her hometown of Ruleville, Mississippi.

A woman of strength, courage and vision, Hamer was a warrior for truth and justice – a true American heroine.

Her work as a grassroots civil rights activist and political organizer brought national attention to the stark reality of the political disenfranchisement of Black people in America.

Her work with the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and her testimony at the 1964 National Democratic Party's Convention on behalf of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party (MFDP) helped change the nation's perspective on the true meaning of democracy in America.

She was a pioneer among Black women in politics and was one of the few women in the Civil Rights Movement who held a leadership role on the front lines of the struggle.

In 2009, the Fannie Lou Hamer Statue Committee (FLHSC), a not-for-profit, was established primarily for the purpose of commissioning the construction of a full-length statue in her honor to be placed in the memorial garden.

The Committee has lent its support to the Board of Alderpersons of the City of Ruleville, who have designated property owned and maintained by the city, as the permanent location for the monument where Hamer and her husband are buried.
